Our Development process

We take a structured approach to web design. Our development process was created to ensure every project is delivered on time and on budget. Once your web design project kicks off, here's what to expect.

Initial Planning

The first order of business is to sit down with your team and create a detailed set of design and technical specifications. These specifications serve as a roadmap for the rest of the web design process.

Wire- Framing

Wireframes are your first chance to visualize your website. While they are not nearly as detailed as the final site will be, they give us a visual representation of the site's overall layout.

Copy and Graphics

Once we have agreed on the final design based on the wire framing, our team will process with development, kicking off two phase's. The first involves creating your site's copy and graphics. Our team will get to work and come up with the copy and images that will flesh out your final site.

Development

At the same time, we all kick off the technical side of the web design process. This will deploy your CMS, create your custom theme and page design, and set up your website's analytics.

Testing

Once our writers, designers, and developer have finished their work, our team will get to work testing your site's performance and reliability. We all use various tools to benchmark you're your site for loading, responsiveness, and speed, while also ensuring that it works reliably on all web browsers and mobile devices.

Development and Optimization

Once we are sure that your site is ready to be released to the public, we all deploy it on your public domain. Then we all shift into a monthly support process that will continue for 6 months. During that period, we all create monthly backups of your site, update scripts and plugins to main security and reliability, and perform layout and content updates as your request.

Project Timeline

The table below represents our projected timeline for your web design project.
